At 69 going on 70 in December, I work for Safeway where most of my co-workers are young and have small kids. Recently, a bout of “pink eye” (conjunctivitis) swept through the kids and their parents, with most of my colleagues coming to work with bright red, itchy eyes because they could not afford to take off work.

The other day when I came home from work, my eyes felt even more tired and itchy than usual. I looked at them in the mirror and there were two bright red “hell eyes” staring back at me. Well I was bound and determined to not go to the doctor because of somebody else’s kids. I remembered that Rowan Emrys, my DYNAMITE sponsor, telephone buddy, first mama of my gorgeous horse River and savior of my last Cushing’s Arab mare Gazetta, had said something about using one of the homeopathic sprays for her red “computer eyes.” Since I could not remember which spray she used, I got all three and drenched my face and eyes first with Relax, then with Release and finally with Tranquil.

Don’t know which did the trick, maybe it was all three, but within moments my eyes felt normal, and, when I looked again in the mirror, they looked normal – all the red and swelling was gone like magic! I never had to use the Solace drops which were going to be my next step. To this day, about 1 week later, my eyes are in perfect condition. I don’t know why I am still amazed at all the miracles that DYNAMITE can perform, but I am . . . amazed and thankful!
